

A Memorable Day with my new puppy

It was a Sunday and I was in the pet store with my elder sister. We were both helping the pet shop owner to look after all the pets inside because he was tired, We thought we could also earn some extra cash along and we were as busy as a bee. "this will be a long day" said my elder sister. At around 2p.m, a suspicious woman came in and asked us for money. She also had a pistol in her hand, pointing at me and my elder sister. We were sweating and politely asking her to put the pistol down but she didn't listen. Since she didn't listen, I punched her in the face, pinned her to the ground and took her mask off. When I took it off, me and my elder sister's jaw dropped. The woman was the pet shop owner's wife, Taylor! Taylor then tried to push me off while my elder sister was on the phone with the police. "Get off of me you weirdo!" yelled Taylor. "Not until the police arrive, Taylor" I replied. During all of this, the animals were freaking our but my elder sister managed to calm them down.

About ten minutes later, the police arrived, along with the pet shop owner, Casey. The police arrester Taylor and took her away. When we told Casey what happened, he was devastated. Tears were running down his face because he thought Taylor would never do that to him. "It's goanna be okay Mr. Casey." We said while giving him a warm smile. He then thanked us and said, "For your bravery, I will give you the last German Shepherd in this store." I was so happy and excited that I burst into tears and proceeded to hug tightly with tears of joy.
